HONGRONG, DECEMBRE 18TH, 1892. One of the most opprobrious terms which province of Hunan, and the Hunaness are distinguished for energy and capacity beyoud most of their fellow nationals. Many of the most important functions, of the administration are in their hands, the military defence of the Yangtsze and Coast provinces, the management of Turkestan, with numerous high political offices; and there is no section of the whole Chinese people who carry so much weight in the counsels of the Empire as the Hunan section. Without and 84 is being asked. some positive qualifications it is impossible that the Hunanese could have attained and zetained this leading position; and that 6 o'clock for this port. they do merit the distinction is pretty well proved by the testimony of those foreigners who come in contact with them in the ordinary way of business intercourse. The Hunan officials, when out of Hunan, are found individually to be intelligent and fairminded, nearly always able men and easy to get on with. It is therefore a great misfortune that it should happen to be these, the most

Lady Brooke's new idea of a Friendship Garden with a Shakespeare border is just the ides, and will add a new and entrancing interest to the life of those who have country houses. Lady Brooks has been successful in getting a. brilliant start for her Friendship Garden, one of the first trees having been planted by the Prince of Wales on his recent visit to Lord and Lady Brooke.

A story is told in the new number of Fashions of To day, which, though old, will bear repeating. It is of the late Bishop Mages, The Bishop had been staying at a well-known water. ing place for his health, and was leaving it rather despondingly, as he had derived no benefit from his sojouru there. On calling for his account he found it very exerbitant. The few silver coins over after it was paid he gave to the waiter. " I hope you have received at H --- the rest and change you so much needed." said the obsequious laudiord; a few minutes later. "No," was the reply, with a shrug of the episcopal shoulders; "the waiter had the change, you have

DIU'I'ONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDARIN · PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of latey ears been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extense. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises ARGE GODOWN underneath VICTORIA for students of a most instructive nature. - Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given at Current Rates. the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously NO. 2. PEDDER'S STREET, next to the attained, and disponsing with those vast margins Post Office. Buitable for Offices or Cham- and vacant spaces which have heretofore chargebers. Has a small Godown attached. Entry terized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration:— Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 13, Praya Contral. Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English BAN HUP, Esq. 2505 and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-eations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitherto pub-For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is an complete, that a reference to its pages enable a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese.
